

“While I have memory,

a breath of life
in my body, I shall remember Carthage.”

– from Vergil’s “The Aeneid”

CARTHAGE COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT

May 26-28, 2023

SENIOR CLASS SPEAKER

The winner of the Distinguished Senior Award has performed at an exceptional level in academics and has demonstrated exemplary leadership in the Carthage community and beyond. Faculty and seniors were asked to nominate graduating seniors for this award, and nominees then were required to submit a resumé and a personal statement. A group of faculty and staff reviewed the submissions, deliberated, and chose the winner.

As the recipient of the Distinguished Senior Award, Liam Carls '23 will give the senior class address.

Graduating with a physics major, Liam completed minors in mathematics, as well as meteorology and climatology. He was actively involved in space science research as a member of the Carthage Microgravity Team and served as president of the Society of Physics Students chapter. He competed as a libero in men's volleyball during his freshman year.

As a campus sustainability intern for the past two years, Liam worked to manage recycling processes, repurpose electronics, and promote environmentally friendly habits. He spearheaded the Sustainability Summit, a now-annual community event that features expert speakers and organizational booths.

He will continue to channel that passion after graduation, entering a master's program in applied physics at the University of Oregon. Liam plans to focus on battery storage technology and clean energy generation.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD

Cherie Matthaidess
Robinson '01

Carthage presents the 2023 Distinguished Alumni Award to Cherie Matthaidess Robinson '01.

Ms. Robinson is vice president of human resources for Amazon's international stores, which employ more than 150,000 workers in over 40 countries. Company leaders describe her as "mission-oriented" and "able to rally others."

With a passion to lead through others, she has progressively taken on more responsibility since joining Amazon in 2012. Before moving west, Ms. Robinson worked for more than a decade in HR management at SC Johnson in Racine, Wisconsin.

A three-generation Carthage family legacy began with her grandfather, Edwin Matthaidess, who taught languages from 1949 to 1976. Extremely active on campus, Ms. Robinson won a senior leadership award, and the 87 career doubles victories she compiled with Kelly (Carstensen) Johnson '01 still stand as a women's tennis record.

After completing her undergraduate studies in psychology and business administration, she went on to earn an MBA from Marquette University. Ms. Robinson resides in Seattle with her husband, George, and their four children.

HONORARY DEGREE

Capt. Amy Bauernschmidt

Carthage presents an honorary Doctor of Public Service degree to Capt. Amy Bauernschmidt of the U.S. Navy.

Originally from Milwaukee, Capt. Bauernschmidt just completed a 21-month tour of duty as commanding officer of the USS Abraham Lincoln. The historic appointment in 2021 made her the first American woman to command an aircraft carrier.

Since being designated a naval aviator in 1996, Capt. Bauernschmidt has accumulated more than 3,000 flight hours as a helicopter pilot and instructor. Totaling seven deployments in support of various military operations, she has been awarded the Legion of Merit, the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, and several other commendations.

On shore, Capt. Bauernschmidt served as senior military adviser to the Office of Global Women's Issues, an arm of the Secretary of State that works to enhance peace and security for women worldwide. In addition to completing the rigorous Nuclear Power School, she has a Master of Arts from the Naval War College and a Bachelor of Science from the Naval Academy.

Recently nominated for a promotion to rear admiral, lower half, Capt. Bauernschmidt awaits confirmation from the U.S. Senate.

FACULTY SPEAKER

Graduating seniors chose Nina F. Weisling, an assistant professor of education, to give this year's faculty address.

Prof. Weisling joined the Carthage faculty in 2019 after holding teaching positions at Cardinal Stritch University in Milwaukee and National Louis University in Chicago. Her research interests include mentoring and new teacher support, inclusive education, diversity and equity, and support for diverse learners and their teachers.

Before working in higher education, Prof. Weisling worked in public and charter schools in Chicago and Philadelphia — first as an educator (special and general education), case manager, and instructional coach, and later as the co-manager of an instructional coach team.

She has a Ph.D. in special education from the University of Illinois at Chicago, a master's in elementary education (concentration in special education) from St. Joseph's University in Philadelphia, and a bachelor's in health care policy from Lawrence University in Appleton, Wisconsin.

SYMBOLS, TRADITIONS, AND REGALIA

The Commencement procession at Carthage is led by the crucifer, symbolizing the centrality of the Christian faith to the College as a community of faith and a community of learning. Following the crucifer is the macebearer, one of the longest-serving faculty members, who symbolizes the authority of the faculty to approve the awarding of degrees.

Eight banners are placed alongside the stage. Four represent the academic divisions at Carthage:

- Division of Arts and Humanities
- Division of Natural and Social Sciences
- Division of Professional Studies
- School of Business and Economics

Four other banners represent the communities in which the College has made its home over the years:

- Hillsboro, Ill. (1847-1852)
- Springfield, Ill. (1852-1869)
- Carthage, Ill. (1870-1964)
- Kenosha, Wis. (1962-present)

Two of the longest-serving faculty members at Carthage serve as marshals during the procession. They lead the faculty, who dress in traditional academic attire that principally consists of a cap, gown, and hood. The cap worn almost universally in academic processions is the Oxford cap, better known as the mortarboard. Poetry teaches us that the cap of scholarship is square to symbolize a book. It is always black. A different style, called the Cambridge cap, resembles a large beret.

The tradition of wearing a dark robe in academic processions is thought to have arisen from the clerical practice of wearing a cape or mantle in religious processions during the 12th and 13th centuries. In recent years, however, a number of universities have incorporated other hues that signify the schools' traditional colors. The master's gown has long, pointed, closed sleeves. The traditional doctoral gown is faced down the front and across the sleeves with velvet in a color representing the discipline of the degree recipient.

The academic hoods, worn around the neck and down the back of the gown, are lined with the official colors of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the binding or edging of the hood usually represents the discipline: Arts, Letters, and Humanities – White; Business and Commerce – Olive; Economics – Drab or Copper; Education – Light Blue or Sage Green; Engineering – Orange; Fine Arts – Brown; Music – Pink; Philosophy – Dark Blue; Physical Education – Sage Green; Science – Golden Yellow; Social Science – Cream; Social Work – Citron; and Theology – Scarlet.

Placed on the stage at Commencement, the Key of Knowledge has symbolized the transfer of leadership from the graduating class to the rising seniors since 1927.

CARTHAGE ALMA MATER

E. E. Ryden

June Engel
Arranged by William Roth and George Boyer

Dear Car - thage, school of stor - ied fame, Thy glo - ry we would sing; Thy sons and daugh - ters near and far To thee their hom - age bring. We see thee stand 'mid state - ly oaks Where gulls sweep through the air; We watch the waves of Mich - i - gan Ca - ress thy cam - pus fair. Our days with - in thy hal - lowedhalls, A - las, too soon shall fly, But we shall ev - er cher - ish thee With love that will not die.
